WHAT TO SEE IN THE PAHRUMP AREA

Scotty's Castle

Hidden in the green oasis of Grapevine Canyon in far northern Death Valley, the Death Valley Ranch, or Scotty's Castle as it is more commonly known, is a window into the life and times of the Roaring 20's and Depression 30's.

Walter Scott, Death Valley Scotty, convinced everyone that he had built the castle with money from his rich secret mines in the area. Albert Mussey Johnson actually built the house as a vacation getaway for himself and his wife Bessie.

From Pahrump, Scotty's Castle is a 2 ½ hour drive. Tours of the castle are given daily.

IMPORTANT NOTICES:

- No gasoline is available at Scotty's Castle. The nearest fuel is available at Stovepipe Wells (45 miles), Furnace Creek (53 miles), Beatty, Nevada (60 miles) and Tonopah, Nevada (80 miles).
- Dry snacks and bottled water are the only food available at Scotty's Castle.

The Historic Furnace Creek Inn

The Historic Furnace Creek Inn is an oasis of luxury in the desert. The Furnace Creek Inn was built by the Pacific Coast Borax Company of Twenty Mule Team Fame. Designed by prominent Los Angeles architect Albert C. Martin and landscape architect Daniel Hull, the 66 room Inn sprawls across a low hill at the mouth of Furnace Creek Wash. Lunch in their excellent restaurant is a must.

Pahrump Valley Winery

Free tours of the winery are offered most days at 11:30 a.m., 1:30 p.m., and 3:30 p.m. Call for current schedule at 775-751-7800. Your tour guide will share the history of the winery and how wine is made at Pahrump Valley Winery.

At the tasting bar you can sample award-winning wines during a pause in your tour of the facilities. The well-stocked gift shop offers one-of-a-kind (mostly wine-related) items for friends and relatives — or to take home personal souvenirs of your experience in a unique desert winery.

Pahrump Valley Winery has been awarded over 40 national wine awards since 2006!
